Skies Clearing In Shopmen Strike

More Conciliatory Attitude Seen and Chances of Settlement Considered Much Brighter.

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 6.—The strike of railway shopmen assumed a more conciliatory aspect today, and the feeling became more general in railroad circles that the last 24 hours has shown a marked trend toward peace, despite the increase in disorders at scattered points. It is believed that yesterday's exchange of letters between Chairman Ben Hooper of the Labor Board, and B. M. Jewell, the shopmen's head, has probably opened the way to negotiations for an early settlement.

Six Bird Hawks Killed By Gauldin At Axton Yesterday

Six bird hawks killed yesterday by J. E. Gauldin of near Axton within a few minutes will sound good to all hunters. Mr. Gauldin on approaching a tree where he knew was a hawk's nest was surprised when one of the old birds tried to swoop down on his head. No sooner had he killed this hawk when the other parent bird tried the same tactics in order to frighten him away from its young ones. were perched in a tall pine. It was an easy matter to kill the four young hawks, although fully grown they were not experienced in flying as they could only make a distance of a few trees at a time. The ground around the tree where the hawks had their nest was entirely covered with partridge and chicken feathers. The birds in being exhibited made a very pleasing sight for the hunters of that section.
Mr. Gauldin said he had killed during the past week a pair of old hawks and two young ones that were just beginning to fly.

Call to Arms Is Issued By Free State Goverment

Proclamation Calls for Enlistment of Men Who Volunteered Last Week and Were Declined.

(By The Associated Press.)
DUBLIN, July 6.—A call to arms was issued today by the provisional Free State government in a form of a proclamation opening the way for enlistment of those citizens who last week were "declined by the government because it was confident of ability of the army single-handed to meet and defeat any attack made upon it." The general headquarters staff of the volunteer organization has been instructed to place its entire establishment on an active service basis.

Unique Yacht Race Set Today

TALAHASSEE, Florida, July 6.—A yacht race, unique in that every craft was identical and that most of the skippers never had been aboard them before, was an event for today on Lake Harris, under the auspices of the Yalaha Yacht Club, which recently received from Sir Thomas Lipton a perpetual cup to be competed for annually.
Lake Harris is in the central part of Florida and it was impossible for visiting skippers to bring their own craft, unless by rail. The Yalaha club thereupon hit upon the idea of issuing an invitation to the yachtsmen of Florida to come here, man their club craft and try their hand at fresh water sailing.

Members of the club own fifteen or twenty speed sixteen-foot racing machines, cat-rigged and identical in all measurements, including sail area, and the entire fleet has at the disposal of the visiting skippers, who were assigned vessels to sail. Each boat carries a crew of two men and the visitors who did not bring a sailing mate were compelled to select a "crew among the Yalaha yachtsmen."

The outcome of the races was expected to depend solely upon the sailing ability of the skippers because no craft had an advantage over another.
Great rivalry resulted between the salt and fresh water men and the controversy over the sailing practice of the two was the outstanding feature before the start.

The contest for the Lipton trophy
will be held next winter.

Warrant Against Holly Dismissed; Other Court News

A warrant against Sam Holly, charging him with assaulting Clyde Strickland, was dismissed in the police court this morning. C. L. Thrower was fined $5 and costs for using profane language to a woman.

The warrants were the result of an accident several days ago, when Strickland ran over the infant child of Holly. Strickland was coming down North Main street when he struck the child. He said he was going slow and attempted to pass a wagon. He looked back momentarily and the child stepped directly in front of the car. He says he stopped immediately and was picking the child up when a man approached him and without warning landed a blow directly in the left eye. He says another man came up from behind and struck him on the head. A woman who saw the disturbance screamed and asked the men not to attack Strickland any more, as it was not his fault in striking the child, and it was then that Thrower is alleged to have cursed the woman and told her if she would put on pants and come out there, he would beat her. Thrower denied the charge.

Holly did not deny striking Strickland. He said that Strickland was paying no attention to where he was driving, and that he was looking back towards a store when he struck the child. He stated that under the circumstances he became angry and struck the man. The warrant was dismissed.

Sam Presnell submitted to a charge of violating the Mann act and was fined $10 and costs. Another warrant charging disturbance was dismissed at costs, which was $3.50. Presnell did not appear in court, but was represented by his brother.

Esther Hodge and Will Cunningham, both colored, were fined $20 and costs each on statutory charges.

For keeping a disorderly and ill-governed house, Dolly Faulkner, colored, was made to pay $10 and costs.

There were many witnesses to appear against Dolly.

Cliff Stanfield, a negro, was held for the present grand jury on a charge of stealing a $60 diamond ring from Belle Hatcher, also colored.

The negro denied the theft, stating that he found the ring and pawned it.

Camera Reveals Body Concealed from Eye

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 5.—On developing a film negative taken two months ago in Tepanga Canyon, 23 miles northwest of here, B. W. Anderson found that the body of a woman under a tree among the undergrowth was clearly outlined in the photograph, according to his story to the police here late last night. The body appeared to have been badly mutilated.

When on the trip neither Anderson nor his friends saw the body, they told the police.

Anderson said that he and his two friends were hiking in a canyon and took several snapshots. The films were placed in his kit, where they remained forgotten until last evening.

The body, partly clad, could be seen beneath a mesquite bush in one corner of the film.

The body, described by Anderson

as being found after six hours' search by

police men, but in the thick under-

growth and the darkness no body was found.

Penn. Tower Girl Says Reading Train Received No Signal

NEW YORK, July 5.—"It was drizzling rain and foggy. I heard No. 33 on the Reading whistling for a signal, and looked out and saw her coming down the track at terrific speed. I called John De Walt, the Reading signalman, on the telephone. I had to ring four or five times before he answered. I told him I wanted an express whistling for signals. I don't suppose it took time to set the switch, for I looked around from the telephone and saw the train shooting toward the switch, and then saw it just sort of crumble together into a heap."

Such is the description given to a reporter by Miss Marguerite Brennan, 21, telephone operator for the Pennsylvania railroad at Winslow Junction, N. J., of the wreck on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad there in the pitch blackness of early Monday morning.

Miss Brennan and De Walt, who is 58, were so far as can be learned, the only two persons who saw the "Midnight Flyer" leap to her doom when she struck an open switch at speed of upward of 70 miles an hour. De Walt is believed to have collapsed, and it was the girl who from her lone tower over the nearby Pennsylvania tracks, sent out call after call over the wires, stopping other trains from rushing upon the mass of twisted metal that had zigzagged across the track and bringing relief for the injured.

The girl will tell her story to the officials today when three separate investigations get under way to ascertain just where the responsibility should be placed. It was intimated yesterday that part of the blame may be put upon train despatchers, who are said to have neglected to notify the signalmen along the Philadelphia and Reading road that they were running out a train of empty day coaches ahead of the flyer. It has been stated that De Walt mistook this unscheduled train for the fast one, which was behind time, and that he opened the switch for a Cape May freighter that was supposed to follow.

Corrected casualty lists indicated yesterday that seven persons had thus far died from the injuries received in the wreck, and that the New Jersey police were in error when they stated on Monday that one had died up to that time. On Monday, it appears, there were but six dead, the inclusion of the name of James Owen, a negro Pullman porter, among them being due to an error.

Yesterday John F. Nace, 49, conductor of the wrecked train, died in Atlantic City hospital. He had been badly scalded by steam from the engine and had suffered fractured legs and internal injuries. His wife, who resides at No. 583 Line street, Camden, N. J., was at his side when the train was shot through the head.

One of them is Louis Colker, who had been married in Philadelphia on Sunday and was journeying to Atlantic City to spend his honeymoon. It was said that his wife will probably recover, although at present she is in such poor condition that she has not been told of the seriousness of her husband's injuries.

The other two whose cases are regarded as the most serious are Frank Massicchio of 1724 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, and Charles Lukens, of No. 6227 Beechwood street, same city.

Miss Brennan told a newspaper representative that the one remark made by De Walt when she informed him of the approach of the "Flyer" was: "All right, thank you."

She said she had long made it a practice to telephone him when she saw an express train approaching on his tracks or heard one whistling for signals.

She explained that although she is employed by the Pennsylvania and not by the Philadelphia and Reading, both of these roads use the same tracks on the Cape May branch, and that she has been in the habit for that reason of watching both. The "flyer" should not have turned onto the Cape May branch as it did when it struck the switch but should have continued straight for Atlantic City.

Miss Brennan stated that about 15 minutes or half an hour after the crash De Walt called her on the telephone and asked her to call his home at Hammonton. She quotes him as having said, "Try to get my son and tell him to come and get me. I'm awfully sick. I want to go home and awfully sick. I want them to bring me back to a place any more."

"I asked him if he needed help," said the girl. "He answered, 'Nobody can do anything now. It's too late.'

Describing conditions she observed when she was able to leave her tower, the girl said that one man, his legs crushed by tons of steel, cried out, "Please shoot me." With her 15-year-old brother, she said, she carried him to the station after the wreckage had been removed from his body, but he died on the way.

"Then I found a woman half buried in the sand," she said. "I lifted her out and set her up against the bank. Then I got water for others and helped as much as I could."

Miss Brennan is an old railroad family. She lives at Winslow Village with her parents and seven brothers and sisters. Her father, a magistrate of the township, was an operator for the Pennsylvania railroad for 20 years.

The body of the engineer, William Wecott, was found yesterday buried in the mud about 120 feet from his engine. Only one hand protruded. Wecott was a large man, who weighed about 250 pounds. It is believed that he was thrown from his car as the train jumped into the cut through which the Pennsylvania tracks run.

One of the inquiries today will be in the form of a coroner's inquest. Another will be conducted by the Public Utility board, and another by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Many persons have been subpoenaed to attend.

De Walt was seen by a newspaper representative on the porch of his home at Hammonton, but he declined to discuss the wreck. He said that he would tell his story to the investigators.

The body, described by Anderson

as being found after six hours' search by

police men, but in the thick under-

growth and the darkness no body was

found.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO*Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also.

I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good before I used to feel completely helpless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHE SILVA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Barrel Of Raisin Jack Tempts In Mayor's Sanctum

Not even in the palmiest days of this Republic prior to the enactment of the Eighteenth amendment was it customary to have a barrel of raisin-jack, apple-jack or any other kind of jack, save the one in the dock, in an American courtroom.

There was a time in this country when most any sort of intoxicating liquor could be obtained in most any place but there was one sanctum where no booze was taboo, except in the form of evidence—that was the court-room.

And now it comes to pass that a barrel of raisin-jack was allowed to stand in the mayor's court-room for several days. There was a splinter in the barrel there was a delightful aroma emanating therefrom—a surreptitious invitation to all so inclined to come and take a drink. And, it appears that there were those so inclined. Whether the number is singular or plural is not known, but the quantity of liquid in the barrel diminished from day to day. Rumors went current ten days ago that the matter had been reported to the police authorities. Some one pointed to a more or less prominent figure around the court-house, but there does not appear to have been enough evidence to connect absolutely this person with the disappearance of the liquor.

The matter was brought to the attention of the grand jury and this body made the incident the subject of its sole presentation to the court. In this presentation the grand jury said:

"To the Judge of the Corporation Court:

It has been called to our attention that ardent and intoxicating liquors are being handled loosely in the Mayor's court-room and we respectfully recommend that in the future such liquors be kept under lock and key and out of the way of temptation."

(Signed) by members of the Grand Jury.

This raisin-jack was the concoction of one Gus Cardelli, an Italian vendor of ice cream upon the streets of Danville. It was confiscated by the police, and analysis showed that it contained about 18 per cent alcohol, a sufficient percentage to generate a considerable lag in one who was tempted to imbibe.

There is a locker in the court-room where it has been customary to place all intoxicating liquors against that day when the accumulation is poured into the gutters. Why this raisin-jack was not locked up is not known, or why as one grand juror is reported to have asked the spigot was not taken out of the barrel and a bung or stopper inserted as a partial bar to temptation is not made clear.

That is to be believed that the sacred precincts of the Mayor's court-room should have been debauched by the sacrifice and use of this raisin-jack, was made clear by the grand jury that knowledge of the fact of its existence and easy access thereto was not more general than made the subject of regretful recriminations in many quarters.

The story behind the grand jury inquiry into the raisin jack had its inception three or more weeks ago when E. F. Bragg, night desk sergeant is said to have surprised on two or more occasions, a subordinate city official in the courtroom stealing wine held as evidence in Cardelli's case.

Bragg is said to have told the chief police chief ordered the barrel removed into his own office, but here is no record of any step being taken toward the man selected to have been caught red-handed in stealing evidence held under the Mapp Act. It was when lack of action was recognized that it was decided to place the facts before the grand jury.

MISS LEVINSON WEDS MR. BELLHalf Schoolfield "House" Elected

Miss Linda Levinson daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. Levinson, was married on Tuesday night to Samuel Bell of Welch West Va. the wedding taking place at the parental home on Green street in the presence of numerous relatives local and out of town friends and then followed by an elaborate reception and a dance which continued until two o'clock yesterday morning.

The lower floor of the home was opened for the occasion this being artistically decorated for the nuptial event. Rabbi Dobin performed the ceremony of the Jewish rite, the bride being given away by her father while her sister, Miss Deborah Levinson, being bridesmaid and only attendant. Meyer Bell of Wilcox W. Va. was the best man.

More than two hundred persons called during the evening while the reception and the dance was being held. A six piece orchestra played throughout the evening the bride and groom leaving the house at 12:30 to catch a northbound train carrying them on the first stages of their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell will make their home at Welch where the groom is a well known merchant. The out-of-town guests were invited to the residence of the mills of the Riverside and Dan River company under the terms set forth in the Constitution of its Industrial Democracy. The vote judging from totals taken in various rooms indicated heavy balloting.

The special committee of five members appointed to count the vote completed their task shortly after six o'clock yesterday evening. No night workers in card and weave rooms were out as soon as possible after taking their shift in order not to delay the returns. The result of the election will be posted in the various departments during the course of this morning.

About three fourths of the successful nominees are new material, it was said by an official of the mill family with the rest of the sixty seven members elected from the term of two years yesterday the other half of the personnel's term of office expiring next year.

There was nothing significant about the election as there were no issues and no sort of formal campaign based on any platform. Here and there were men who had been reominated for further service who were defeated while in some departments in who served one term dropped out last year were sent back. Of the eleven women candidates six were elected but by what majorities was not given out.

There was one instance where two brothers were elected. Riverside Weave Room No 3 re-elected Dan Baugh who is mentioned as the next speaker of the House and at the same time elected his wife for a two-year term.

In about two weeks' time both the new House and the Senate will convene perfect temporary organization and there go into joint session to hear a message from H. R. Fitzgerald president of the Mill.

PersonalRevolt Is Suppressed

STAUNTON, July 5.—Staunton will very likely be an important point in the Virginia Division of the Atlantic and Pacific highway, according to J. Edgar Burton, of Indianapolis, Indiana, and general manager of that highway association. In a statement made by him last night, he declared that in his belief and in the belief of others who have looked carefully into the question the A. and P. route connecting Los Angeles and New York by way of Washington will eventually become the main traveled way between East and West.

Mr. Burton, accompanied by T. T. McCall, of the Y. M. C. A., Spring Springs was in Staunton yesterday in advancement of his plan, his particular errand being the mapping out of the route which the road will take through Virginia. Mr. T. T. McCall, after four years of cross continent road work, prospective and that within that time, has been extended from Los Angeles to the Atlantic.

B. F. Morissette Died Last Night At Age Of 89REVOLT IS SUPPRESSED

One of the most beloved members of the city police department, Beverly Farrar Morissette, 89 years of age, passed away at his home on Grove street last night at 7 o'clock. Deceased had been connected with the police department since 1876, serving as patrolman for many years and for the past sixteen years serving as desk sergeant. Because of his infirmities of age he had been unable to attend to his duties for many months but his connection with the department was never severed.

Mr. Morissette was born in Chesterfield county, Virginia, in 1843, but has been a resident of Danville during the greater portion of his life. During the war between the states he served with honor and distinction in the Confederate armies. His life as a man and as a citizen was exemplary and inspiring. He accepted responsibility courageously and faithfully discharged every trust placed in him.

Little Known Men To Lead Congress

New Body Will Be Guided by Members Who Have Not Been in Spotlight—Old Faces to Disappear.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The next Congress will be guided by a new group of leaders, no matter which national party finds itself in control after the November election.

Radical changes in the organization of the House and Senate are foreshadowed already by the defeat in the primaries of leading legislators, or the one who has won by the voluntary retirement from public life of still more on the other.

At the moment it seems that the House regime will be more completely overthrown than will be in the Senate by the changes now ordained. Also there is a chance that the Democrats will overcome the present enormous Republican majority in November, and slender though that chance is, it is not as slender as is the possibility that the party in power will surrender control of the Senate.

Regardless of the political perils of November, however the next House will be dominated in large measure by men not now conspicuous upon the floor. The Republican floor leader, Frank W. Mondell, to reexample. He is standing for the Senate to succeed Senator Kendrick, Democrat.

To whom the floor leadership will pass, if the Republicans hold control, is an unanswerable question. Representative James R. Mann, of Illinois, the most successful ringmaster, may come back. He does not want his old job back. He wants to succeed Speaker Gillett in the chair, but Mr. Gillett shows no inclination to step down. Then there is Nicholas Longworth, an able Ohioan, who might assume the Mondell mantle, or even Sidney Anerson, an upstanding fighter from Minnesota.

Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, has announced that he had enough of Congressional houses and labor. This will throw open the most important of committee chairmanships, with the possible exception of that of the Appropriations Committee. Un der the seniority rule, Representative Green of Iowa would succeed to the seat vacated by Mr. Fordney. If there is to be a test of strength, however, between the "sky's-the-limit" protectionists of the Fordney school and the moderates of the Longworth type, seniority may not govern the selection of the next Ways and Means chairman.

There is talk that Representative Winslow, of Massachusetts, head of the highly important Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce will follow Mr. Fordney and voluntarily withdraw from Congress. His business interests are extensive and need his attention, it is said. Also he harbors the desire to be near his children and their families in Massachusetts. Representative Parker, of New York, comes next. He has been upbraided of late in the House. "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the dean of the House Republicans, will retire on March 4, never to seek public office again. Although no longer active as a floor leader, this veteran of more than 40 years' service is leaned upon heavily by younger members and he

CERTAIN RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

New Cordial Called Anti-Ferment, Originated By a Druggist and Recommended by Physicians. Neutralized Acid Condition of Stomach Prevents Fermentation and Brings Instant Relief.

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, griping pains, dysentery, diarrhea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are now directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food sours before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, one simply has to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and sweetens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed intestines and increases the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment at your druggist with a guarantee of results or money refunded. It will improve your appetite. Give you will be sorely missed by Republicans and Democrats alike. He is ranking Republican member of the Appropriations Committee.

Representative Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, who has been an active House leader, will not stand for reelection. He is seeking a Senate seat. If he fails of nomination or of election he will return to private life.

Another House leader, Representative Patrick Kelly, of Michigan, chairman of the naval subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee, a post of great importance, is seeking a Senate seat also. He is fighting Senator Townsend for a primary nomination.

Over on the Senate side Senator McCumber, chairman of the Finance Committee, has just been defeated for re-nomination by former Governor Frazier, of North Dakota. This would indicate that Senator Smoot of Utah, an old-line protectionist, will step into the chairmanship of this major committee. Senator La Follette, a bitter opponent of his party's tariff policy, is next in line. If anything should happen to him, however, La Follette will be one of the members of every conference committee on the tariff or revenue. Incidentally, Senator Smoot is opposed to a soldier bonus. He is against the cash feature. He believes in insurance. Also Mr. Smoot is the leading advocate in the Senate, or in Congress for that matter, of the sales tax.

Senator New, of Indiana, another organization wheel horse, has been defeated by Albert J. Beveridge and he will disappear from the Senate on March 4. He may appear, however, in a Cabinet position if there is a vacancy that attracts him after March 4. He is now chairman of the Committee of Territories and Insular Affairs.

Senator Paige, of Vermont, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, is not a candidate for reelection. He wants to go back home and enjoy leisure for the remainder of his days. Next in line for that chairmanship is Senator Lodge, who already is chairman of Foreign Relations. This will mean in all probability that Senator Poindexter, of Washington, will head the next Naval Affairs Committee.

There is no certainty, of course, that Mr. Lodge himself will return. He has a bitter primary fight to start with, and will have a more bitter fight against his Democratic opponents in the general election.

Speaker Gillett is in the chair, but Mr. Gillett shows no inclination to step down. Then there is Nicholas Longworth, an able Ohioan, who might assume the Mondell mantle, or even Sidney Anerson, an upstanding fighter from Minnesota.

WHEN STRIKERS WALKED OUT IN CHICAGO

THIS SHOWS STRIKING RAILROAD SHOPMEN IN CHICAGO WALKING OUT AT THE WESTERN AVENUE SHOPS OF THE CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST PAUL

PATRIOTS WIN OVER WINSTON

MISSOURI TOWN ENTIRELY RUN BY RAIL STRIKERS

Byrns Replies To G.O.P. Assertions Of Achievements

WASHINGTON, Mo., July 6.—Striking shopmen, comprising 60 and 70 per cent of the population and including a majority of the city officials held the Chicago and Alton railroad shops here tonight and patrolled the town after driving eighteen strikebreakers from the shops today, taking them to the edge of the town and telling them to "beat it" the strike sympathizers round ten more tonight hiding in a gentleman's care in the railroad yards and placed them on a train for Chicago.

All trains passing through Slater tonight were searched for strikebreakers. A force of strikers held the station platform, and others were posted at various parts of the yards.

Deadline had been established around the railroad shops beyond which no stranger could go in approaching the shops.

Thomas J. Gaulin, the mayor, a clerk in the shops, said that as far as he knew, there had been no violence, and Leo Winkler, head of the shopmen's union, said there had been no violence.

The mayor said railroad officials had asked him today for special officers to protect property, but that he had refused to act because it would precipitate trouble.

John Logden, sheriff of Saline county, said he had spoken with Governor Hyde but the governor had said he did not believe it necessary to send troops yet.

The sheriff told the Associated Press correspondent that he would not be able to control the situation if such trouble developed.

One of the strikebreakers, deported tonight, wore a bandage wrapped around his head as he was led on board the Chicago train. Union men said he had fallen into one of the repair pits.

P. Butts, the town marshal, until four years ago an employee in the shops, admitted arresting a strikebreaker today and holding him in jail for four hours on suspicion he later was released to union men and told to leave town.

The sheriff has only two deputies and one other man as assistant, and while the governor suggested he swear in special deputies for the emergency, he has not been able to find anyone willing to serve.

There was loose talk tonight in the streets of Slater, among the groups of union men who stood on street corners. Some men thought that violence was sure to follow any attempt by the railroad to operate its shops. All were agreed that operation would not be allowed. The town is in accord on that point.

President Harding Addresses World War Veterans

MARION, O., July 5.—(Associated Press)—So long as the American Legion is consecrated to the preservation of the constitution and of law and order, the American republic is everlastingly secure. President Harding asserted in a brief address today to a thousand world war veterans who had a reunion here.

Reminding them that they were now charged with a greater responsibility than they were on the battlefields of France, Mr. Harding declared the destiny of the United States was in the hands of former servicemen.

"I have no hesitancy in saying," he added, "that it is in good hands."

The president urged the men in his audience, many of whom were in the afternoon, had participated in a historical parade which he reviewed to serve their country as civilians with war-time consecration and devotion.

The president started off his last day among the home folks with a morning round of golf on the new links here with O. S. Rapp, a close Marion friend.

General Pershing and Charles G. Dawes, former budget bureau director, attended luncheon at the home of C. B. Kling.

Frank Havernak, who drove the truck looted in the sky scraper district, identified the trio as the men who held him up.

After luncheon at the home of C. B. Kling, Mrs. Harding's brother, the president went to a reviewing stand to witness the parade which depicted various stages of United States history.

During a minute wait for the procession to start Mr. and Mrs. Harding were serenaded by the Buckeye Republican Glee Club of Columbus.

As the parade passed, both the president and Mrs. Harding frequent curries.

by recognizing an acquaintance in the procession waved a greeting.

The president entered into the spirit of the pageant with the enthusiasm of a school boy. He grinned broadly when a float on which a colonial mother was rocking a cradle passed, placarded with signs.

No old prairie schooner, drawn by twenty mules, and a dilapidated rural frontier wagon in which there was a smoking stove, also caused the president to smile.

Mr. Harding leaned over the railings to wave to a four foot drum major who strutted by at the head of one band.

Both the president and Mrs. Harding applauded when an automobile occupied by a war veteran, his wife and baby passed.

"On the machine was a placard announcing that the child was the first American baby born on the frontier," the paper said.

Former service men from all parts of Ohio had flocked into Marion to participate in the parade, and to hold a reunion later at the fair grounds.

MAIL ROBBERS HELD FOR $125,000 BAIL

NEW YORK, July 5.—Three men accused of the $20,000 holdup and robbery of a mail truck freighted with securities in November, last October, and suspected of complicity in the $70,000 theft from an American Express Company truck in Buffalo in December, were held in $125,000 bail, each day, by United States Commissioner Hatchcock.

Frank Havernak, who drove the truck looted in the sky scraper district, identified the trio as the men who held him up.

Detectors who arrested them Monday in an apartment overlooking Grandview Park recovered $100,000 of the stolen securities.

TO DEAL WITH STRIKERS WHO BOTHER MAILS

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Under no circumstances will the government tolerate any interference to the United States mails.

Today, after the receipt of reports that striking railway workers had interfered with mail transportation in different parts of the country,

There is a disposition on the part of the administration it was understood, to deal with strikers or any others who may interfere with the proper despatch of the mails in most vigorous manner.

KITCHENER BOWL
COMING TO U. S.

LONDON, July 5.—The famous Kitchener fish bowl, the gem of the collection of curios of the late Lord Kitchener, has been purchased by an American collector and will shortly be shipped to the United States.

Very few bowls of this size and character, which are characteristic of Ming period (1368-1643) are known to exist at the present day. It stands two feet six inches in height and has a diameter of two feet eight inches.

Mother-To-Be,
Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. From this moment on, cast from your mind all dread and fear, and feel every day as the months roll by that great freedom from much of the suffering which thousands of expectant mothers undergo, unnecessarily. And when the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had an infection, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It aids the muscles and tissues to expand easily. It penetrates quickly. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases sometimes recommended by the unknowing. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

NOTE—Write for valuable free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important information on the care of the mother and baby. Mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," to Bradfield Regulator Company, P.O. Box 10, Atlanta, Ga.

Harding's Friend
Is Made Consul

TANGIER, Morocco, July 5.—President Harding's fellow-townsmen and personal friend, the Rev. Joseph M. Denning, who has just assumed his duties here as American consul general and diplomatic agent, has come to Africa at a time when Morocco is torn with unrest, and Spain and France are both fighting to maintain supremacy in their zones of influence.

Eighteen years ago John Hay's "Pedicaris alive or Raisuli dead!" rang through the streets of Morocco, and four American warships steamed into Tangier to back up American demands for the release of Ian Pedicaris, whom Raisuli had kidnapped and was holding in the mountains for ransom.

The Moroccan government understood the language of warships with guns trained seawards. It paid Raisuli the 10,000 English pounds he demanded for Pedicaris' release, and the incident was closed.

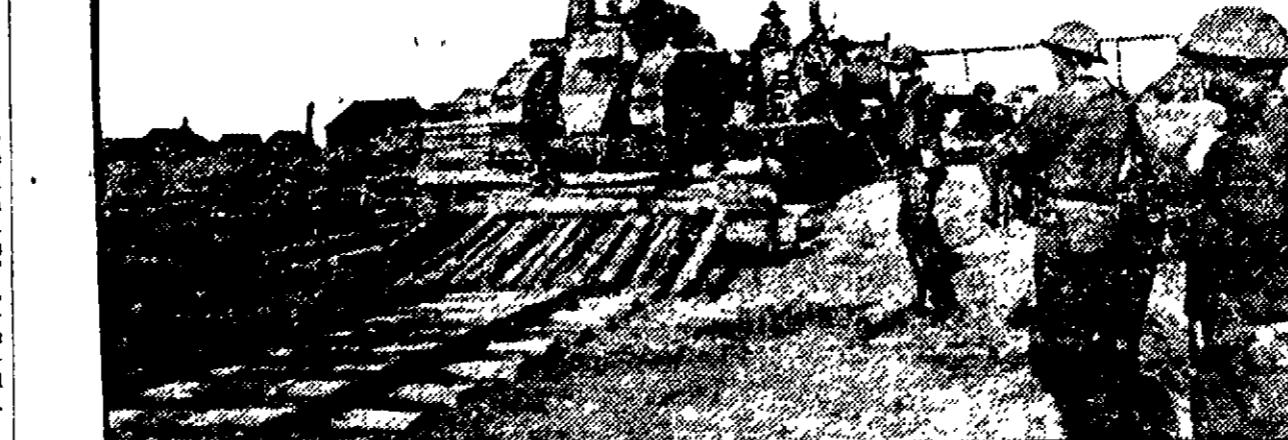

But this same Raisuli is still on the rampage. He and many other bandit chiefs are operating within a hundred miles of Tangier. Raisuli has grown fat and prosperous since the days when he made the Moroccan government pay him so well for the release of Ian Pedicaris and Walter B. Harris, the correspondent of The London Times. But a few days ago the Spanish troops drove him out of his citadel at Dazroot, 60 miles south of Tangier, and he and his harem and three thousand soldiers are in flight in the mountains before the artillery of the Spanish leaders, who have less fear of bandits than has the Moroccan government.

In was in 1904 that Raisuli captured Pedicaris and blackmailed the Moroccan sultan into ransoming him to avoid trouble with America. The bandit leader became so powerful that he was named governor of the Tangier district a little later and was also named governor of the city of Arzela. He was such a power that the government could not refuse him what he wished. When Spain took over under the Algeciras treaty in 1912 it curried favor with Raisuli. He was given posts for his forces and made a sort of governor.

Three years ago the Spaniards, tired of the extortions and demands of Raisuli, ousted him from office. At Dazroot he had erected a fortified castle where he kept his bandit army and his treasures protected against invaders. He had machine-guns, but no heavy artillery. So when the Spanish forces turned heavy shells against his stronghold a few days ago there was nothing for him and his followers to do but flee.

This flight put Raisuli into bitter disgrace. Dazroot is a holy city. It contains the tomb of Absolom Raisuli, patriarch much revered by Mohamet an ancestor of the bandit chief and a medians. Consequently Raisuli has lost face by his inability to resist the attacks of the Christian troops. They have broken the spell which has long series of attacks of the Christian troops. They have broken the spell which his long series of successes had cast about him. He is in flight in territory where he is much hated by the natives because of his cruel exactations, and in the Spaniards choose to pursue him his capture should not be difficult.

For nearly 40 years Raisuli has it was said.

This shows the arrival of two Whippet tanks which were sent with 1,000 National Guardsmen into a Colorado mine zone about 20 miles from Denver after trouble had been threatened and several buildings had been fired. The troops took, in addition to seven tanks, a large supply of machine guns.

SALT WATER IN OIL WELLS MAKES
FOR A BIG DROP

NEW YORK, July 5.—Appearance of salt water in the Totoco Azul Oil fields of Mexico caused a sharp decline in the New York stock and curb markets today of the prices of oil stocks of companies operating in that territory.

Mexican Petroleum, which has been one of the speculative features of the big board in recent weeks, was the hardest hit, closing at 47 for a net loss of 11 1/2 points. Class "A" and "B" stocks of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport company, which owns more than 70 per cent of the stock of Mexican Petroleum, suffered losses of 6 1/4 and 6 points respectively. Transactions in these three stocks made up more than 25 per cent of the entire day's dealings on the stock exchange, which totalled approximately 555,000 shares.

Mexican seaboard oil, a curb stock, opened at 47 1/2 and dropped to 36 3/4 a new low, closing at 36 1/2, a loss of 11 points.

Executives of both the Pan American and Mexican seaboard companies statements confirming the appearance of salt water, but set forth that it was not unusual and not unexpected.

HARDING BACK
AT HIS OLD JOB

MARION, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding tried his hand again today at his old job of writing editorials for the Marion Star.

Today's edition carried a two column editorial signed by "Warren G. Harding." It was headed "The essentials to success," and brought out that honesty, simplicity, industry, capacity and determination, "available to all who aspire," are the chief essentials of success.

SEVERAL KILLED IN DEMONSTRAT'NS

BERLIN, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Serious disturbances occurred in the course of yesterday's demonstrations in several places throughout the republic. One man was killed and 19 wounded at Wiesbaden, a workman was killed at Wiesbaden near Breslau, several persons were wounded at Bingen near Freiburg while at Sommerschenburg thousands of workmen from surrounding districts poured in and struck work. Captain Von Rosenborg, manager of Sommerschenburg estate, was killed. Police reinforcements despatched from Mainzburg were dispersed by rioters, and firing continued all night long. Three rioters were killed and many wounded. Count Gneusaus' castle was looted.

Rioting also occurred at Zwickau in Saxony, lasting far into the night. The fighting originated in an attack on the town hall which had for its object the disarming of a police guard. Much firing ensued as both rioters and police and the mob finally gathered outside of the police barracks and ordered the police to surrender arms. When the latter refused fighting was renewed. Ten workmen and eight policemen were wounded and one workman and one policeman killed.

STRIKERS ARRESTED
FOLLOWING DISORDER

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 5.—Seven strikers and two strike breakers were taken in custody here this afternoon by city police following a minor disorder near the Georgia railroad shops. The police charged the strikers jeered at the strikebreakers, using abusive language, and that they returned threats.

The striking shopmen are charged with disorderly conduct and with interference with persons engaged in the pursuit of their vocation. The two strikebreakers face charges of carrying concealed weapons and carrying concealed weapons and

RANKS OF MEN
IN RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Va., July 5.—There have been several defections of striking shopmen reported here by officers of the railroads, and the claim is there are signs that several others will join the men in the next day or so. Twelve men returned to their post. They are old employees and managed to get back their old positions and to reinstate themselves. The officers are asking for men to take the places of the strikers, and they are taking them as fast as they apply. On the other hand, the officers of the strikers organization say they are entirely satisfied with the outlook, that they expect a few of the old men to break away, but that the defections are not worrying them in the least. The railroads are operating their trains as usual, with no delay in either freight or passenger services.

THREE ARE ARRAIGNED ON PEONAGE CHARGE

GAINESVILLE, Fla., July 5.—Three men, prominent naval stores operators of Dixie county, were brought here today and arraigned before United States Commissioner A. J. Acosta on charges of peonage growing out of the working of negroes on their property. The hearing was continued until tomorrow.

The men, Austin Brown, Moses L. Brown and W. H. Mathin, were released in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Bowden. Further than to say that the men were charged with peonage, officials would not discuss the case, explaining the testimony would be heard tomorrow.

DESTRUCTIBLE CATERPILLARS

REGINA, Sask., July 5.—Caterpillars have eaten up fifty square miles of forests in the Kipling district near here.

Scarcely a green leaf remains and the district presents the stark appearance of a winter scene, forestry officials say.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 5.—The Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron Company, Ltd., of Ducktown, Tenn., tonight filed a bill in United States district court here seeking to enjoin the proposed merger of the Tennessee River Power Company and Chattanooga and Tennessee River Power Company and subsidiaries.

WHY IS A STREET CAR?

Because in Danville about four million times every year some citizen or visitor wants to ride to where he or she is going instead of walking, thereby saving time and energy.

The group of citizens furnishing that form of transportation, after rendering reasonably good service are entitled to some return for their efforts and investment.

Don't you think so too?

ROCKY MOUNT NEWS

ROCKY MOUNT, Va., July 4.—Today, the Fourth of July will be quiet, spent by the citizens of Rocky Mount, no demonstration except the game of baseball between the Visco team of Roanoke, and the home team.

Services were at the following churches of the town Sunday:

Mr.

Arlie S. King, a student of the Union

Theological Seminary of Richmond,

who is in charge of the Presbyterian

Churches of Rocky Mount and Callaway

for the summer months, preached an interesting and instructive sermon in the Presbyterian church here

Sunday, his regular appointment. He is also scheduled to preach here next Sunday.

The Rev. C. A. Tucker, pastor of

Scott Memorial Methodist church has returned from his vacation, and preached at both morning and evening services in his church.

The Rev. Arthur Wake conducted services in his church, the Christian church, Sunday, with a large attendance.

Mr. Arthur Kinsolving, a theological student who will be in charge of Trinity Episcopal church here, will arrive today, Tuesday, and will conduct services next Sunday in his church.

On Saturday, July first, the Fieldale

baseball team defeated the local team, on the local grounds; score 11 to 7. This makes three straight games the Fieldale team has taken from the home team, who played a good game, but was outclassed by the visiting team.

Woman's Missionary Society of

Scott Methodist church will hold the annual meeting

on Sunday.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Al-

lenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N.

Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to keep him in their thoughts and pray that any one's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists

to guarantee it as above in every instance. McFall's drug store can supply

Turning a Block Pattern Into a Garment

BY MARJORIE KINNEY

(This is the third of a series of lessons in dressmaking, in which Miss Kinney teaches the modifications of the plain block pattern to vary the wardrobe.)

THE amateur dressmaker who has an imagination and an artistic sense of color, line and combination can make a successful summer wardrobe with the use of a well-fitted
"block" for a one-piece dress.

The "block" may be either a drafted pattern, as given in my second article, or it may be one of the standard commercial patterns.

In either case it should first be tried out in cheap muslin and alterations carefully made before a paper pattern is cut for permanent use.
Decide whether you want a one-piece "block" with set-in sleeves or a kimono block. Both are used for this season's dresses.

If using a commercial pattern, select one simple in cut and becoming in line, you can add the trimmings and decorations to suit each gown. It is a good plan to make your corrections and notes directly on your muslin model, using a dressmaker's black wax pencil.

Draw on the muslin block your becoming neck line, the depth of a front opening, lines indicating pockets, becoming belt line and the correct length.

Neck Line Important
The neck line is one of the most telling points in your dress. If you want an opening lower than you can modestly wear fill in with a tucker, pinning it to your lining, camisole or brassiere, but do not sew it in your dress, as it will look stiff.

Drawing one is a good modification of a one-piece dress with set-in sleeve.
Mark on your "block" at the arm-hole, front and back a becoming line (line A). Slash in from the arm-hole two and one-half inches.

When cutting your dress allow three inches to four inches extra width at the armhole and gather this into the two and one-half inch space, setting the gathers in with a fine covered cord.

This extra fullness is not only a pretty decoration, but gives ease through the front and a straight hanging back. It is particularly becoming to a figure with small waist and large hips.

The front may be raised slightly at this cut, drawing back the skirt so that it will not poke out at the bottom.

Always allow generous shoulder seams that the front of the dress may be dropped if necessary at this seam and the skirt drawn back at the side seam to keep it flat in front.

Another pretty variation of the one-piece is to cut the side seams of the dress much wider than the desired width of the skirt. Stitch up the side seams on the original seam line, letting this extra material fall in a jabot. These side pieces may be straight or shaped as in drawing 2 and lined with contrasting material or bound around the edge.

Drawing 3 gives one the idea of the jabots.

Design 4 gives a pretty neck line
by cutting both back and front high.
The back neck line should be about four inches across on the straight grain of material, the front cut down the center front, the points turned back to form a rever.

A straight band of material is fag-goted to the edge of the rever and around the back neck line as a finish.

Approns Attached
This model also shows the popular aprons attached to the belt. Generally these aprons are made for both back and front.

In this sketch three-inch wide bands are faggotted to the sides of the apron, the bottom of the band is caught to the underside of the hem of the dress, the band hanging below the skirt, and the top of the band is buttoned to the waist line a few inches above the belt.

Many dresses are held in at the waist line with an elastic. For this, sew a casing around the waist line on the wrong side.

Make the elastic only a trifle tighter than the waist-line. When I speak of the waist line I mean the line where you wear your belt or sash.
This season it is several inches below the actual waist.

You may cut your kimono block with much wider sleeves and shorter under-arm seam, or with no sleeves at all for a party frock.

25,000 MEN ON STRIKE IN NEW YORK DISTRICT

NEW YORK, July 5.—John J.
Dowd and David Williams, chairman and vice chairman of the New York district "strike conduct" committee of the six railroad shop crafts unions, today returned from a tour of the metropolitan area with reports that 25,000 men had walked out, including nearly 3,000 "sympathy" strikers.

Despite the refusal of their national organizations to authorize a general strike, declared the labor chiefs, maintenance of way men, truckmen,
firemen, boilermen, water tenders, coal passers and clerks are going out in small groups in scattered shops on all of the 11 principal roads entering New York City. Prior to today, the strike called last Saturday was estimated by leaders to have been answered by 22,000 men, or approximately 100 per cent of the shop craft personnel in the district.

"We haven't been able to learn of 25 men in the whole port of New York area who have deserted the union," declared Dowd.

Contrasted with all reports from strike headquarters in this city were the unanimous assertions of executives of eastern railroads that walkouts today were negligible. It was generally declared that many shop craftsmen who chose the hour of the strike call to begin celebrating July 4th returned to their jobs today.
Hundreds of men, responding to newspaper advertisements, are being used to replace the strikers.

New shop organizations are being built up, rail officials declared, which soon will eliminate any danger of passenger or freight train suspension.
The Pennsylvania announced at noon today that it had all the men it needed in all shops. Less inclusive statements were made at headquarters of other roads.

Verified reports that several of the principal lines roads were employing men to take care of the jobs left vacant by semi-skilled and unskilled union strikers failed tonight to cause any consternation among the strike leaders.

"Let them fill all our places with negroes if they want to," said David Williams, committee man. "If they can perform the jobs our men have done, they're welcome to the jobs. In two or three weeks, when locomotives and rolling stock begin to show the effects of abuse and neglect we'll win this strike."

The Laramore dam, built by the federal government, irrigates 266,004
acres of land.

The left shoulder of a human being is almost invariably higher than the right.

In the British Museum there is a bone that measures only one inch long and two-fifths of an inch wide.

RURAL NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

BOSTON, July 5.—The most important rural need today is that system of state support of education and educational organization be put on such a basis that the country child may have school facilities that compare favorably with those available to the child living under urban conditions.

George A. Works, of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, said today in an address before the National Education Association here.

"The best approach to a consideration of the needs of rural life is through a popular misconception concerning the decline in proportion of our population that is living under rural conditions," Mr. Work said.

"The noting of this fact has given rise to two slogans that have been generally used during the past generation, viz., 'back-to-the-farm' and 'stay-on-the-farm.'

In spite of the fact that both of these are unsound from the social and economic viewpoints, the latter has been generally accepted in educational literature dealing with the problems of rural education. It has manifested itself in the doctrine that rural schools should be dedicated to keeping children in the country.

"The economic forces that underlie
this movement are so powerful that it is unlikely that the schools could have stopped it had it been attempted through them. It would have been unfortunate for both country and city if the movement had been stopped.

There are two different but very important questions to be considered in connection with the drift of population from country to city. Is the country retaining a fair proportion of the more capable who are born and reared there? Do those who remain have facilities that make it possible for them to obtain an amount of education that compares favorably with those who live in cities?

RE-WRITING OF TARIFF BILL IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Continuing its work of re-writing the tariff bill, the Senate finance committee majority has approved a reduction in the duties originally proposed on cotton cloths and some cotton goods, including hose and half hose and underwear and other wearing apparel.

Some attention also has been given to the woolen schedule, but it is understood that the committee will make few if any changes in the rates in that schedule.

"COUNT" YAZELLI, "DRY"

SLEUTH GIVES CHICAGO

CAFE MEN BIG JOINT

CHICAGO, July 5.—Proprietors of hotels, restaurants, cafes and road houses sat in their offices today, sad but wiser men, while "Count" William Yazzelli checked up the evidence on which he arrested proprietors and managers of more than 20 places Saturday night and Sunday for violating the prohibition laws.

The "Count's" methods—he was at one time a working partner of Izzy Einstein in New York, took Chicago by surprise. Trained for years to recognize the sleuth by his heavy jowls, blue serge suit, broad shoulders and the stamp of an unlighted cigar, which all the detectives chew, some of Chicago's best known night life leaders are still trying to figure out how it happened.

The "Count" came to town a month ago, slim, sartorially perfect, with his mustache waxed to needle points and soon earned a reputation as a sinner. When he appeared, accompanied by a well-gowned companion, head waiters bowed him to their choicest tables and—he says—bonded liquors were brought at his request.

Saturday he called on the United States Marshal and asked for 20 deputies. They followed him in automobiles. There was no tip off, for only the "Count" knew where they were bound.

At each place Yazzelli was ushered to his favorite table by smiling man-

ers. The deputy marshals entered.

The "Count" produced a note-book, scanned his notes and said:

"I want this man, and that man and that man." The disillusioned proprietors and their helpers were bundled off to the Federal Building.

WASTED HOURS

There was a day I wasted long ago,

Lying upon a hillside in the sun—

An idle day and all my work undone.

The little peach trees with their coral skirts

Were dancing up the hillside in the breeze.

The grey walled meadows gleamed like bits of jade

Against the crimson bloom of maple trees.

And I could smell the warmth of trodden grass,

The coolness of a freshly harrowed field;

And I could hear a bluebird's wistful song

Of love and beauty only half revealed.

I have forgotten many April days

But one there is that comes to haunt me still—

A day of feathered trees and windy skies

And wasted hours on a sunlit hill.

RICHMOND SHOPMEN

REPORTED RETURNING

RICHMOND, July 5.—That strikers are returning to some of the shops in Richmond was the report from the heads of two of the roads tonight. It was said at the office of the general manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio, that some of the shopmen who quit last Saturday morning had applied for jobs and had been taken back. Others are expected to return tomorrow, it was stated.

After citing numerous instances in which the board has upheld collective bargaining and ruled in favor of the unions, the letter adds:

"Flapper-Foto" Causes War

MISS GLADYS LAVERTY'S "FLAPPER-FOTO."

EUREKA, Cal., July 6.—This is the story of a "flapper-foto" that caused a school war.

Also, this is the photograph.

Also, this little city has recognized the right of a high school graduate to appear in "make-up."

Miss Gladys Laverty caused the "revolt."

It had been arranged that photos of high school graduates would appear in the annual publication in "debutante in the earth." But Miss Laverty didn't like the looks of her photo. She had another one taken showing her with

"Gupid bow" lips and other trimmings.

Just before publication the faculty found it out.

Someone demolished the copper plate of Miss Laverty.

The student body president threatened to resign. The class all but refused to be graduated. Miss Laverty went. Things were adjusted at the eleventh hour.

But when graduation night arrived Miss Laverty was given a great ovation by the spectators.

"We're afraid," said some faculty members, "that make-up has been given unanimous endorsement."

During today's discussion of land disarmament a French delegate said his government would want very definite provisions in the agreement so it would know exactly what the country could depend on in case of need. The Japanese member of the sub-committee approved the general terms of the plan but declared he did not believe alliances should be formed to combat which might be illustrated by giving instances where forces from many countries have been used together as in the world war.

Lord Robert Cecil explained that no one would be barred from aiding a country which had been attacked but the continental agreement simply limited the obligations of each country. All countries would be free to enter a defensive war, if they wished.

Hjalmar Branting, Sweden, on behalf of the smaller nations, expressed the view that they did not favor any further military obligations, and suggested that any reform must be slow and cautious.

In reply to Mr. Branting's statement, Lord Robert agreed that the treaty must be drafted carefully. In justification of the cautious attitude of the smaller powers, he cited the United States as opposing any agreement which might involve it in the affairs of other nations.

The Jugo-Slave member suggested that defensive alliances should be made between neighboring states. This idea, however, met with general disapproval.

Emmett Wilkerson Slays Parent Near Charlottesville When Youth Intercedes for Mother.

Weighs 33 Pounds

Lawrence, 10-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gunderman, West Lynn, Mass., weighs 33 pounds. He won first prize at Lynn's heaviest and most perfect baby.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, July 6.—Just before the Fourth the section around Gilberts was shocked by an untoward happening in the family of W. S. Wilkerson, one mile north of that village, which resulted in his losing his life at the hands of his son, Emmett Wilkerson, who claims he shot him to protect his mother.

Young Wilkerson's statement that he was reading in an upstairs room at their home early Sunday evening when his father made a violent attack on Mrs. Wilkerson. Hearing her cries he rushed to the scene and found that she had been knocked down and severely hurt in the mouth. Being unable to induce him to desist he procured a pistol and fired at him to protect his mother from further violence, having no intention to inflict a mortal wound.

His shot was effective, however, and was reflected from the left breast and penetrated the lung.

The wounded man was given medical attention as soon as possible by Dr. T. W. Sims of near Buckersville, Green county, but he died from the effects of the shot at 11 o'clock Monday night.

Sherriff J. Mason Smith, immediately upon being notified of the occurrence, proceeded to the scene Monday afternoon and placed Young Wilkerson under arrest, he making no resistance of effort to escape and returned with the prisoner at 4:45 that evening and lodged him in the County jail.

The released was an industrious farmer of the Gilberts neighborhood and his son, Emmett, was living with his dad working on the farm, always trying to teach him the practice of using violence against his mother, sisters and his attacks continued on Saturday evening.

Young Wilkerson was the brother of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Gilberts.

At 11 o'clock last night, Dr. Sims had a telephone call from W. S. Wilkerson, before whom he had been standing for half an hour.

He had been drinking heavily and was threatening to kill his wife.

He had been threatening to kill his wife for weeks, according to Dr. Sims.
